

HEALTHCARE THRIVES IN TUCSON

Find a fulfilling, lucrative healthcare career in Southern Arizona, where life is all about balance. From providing life-changing care to your community to enjoying year-round outdoor recreation in your time off, you can say hello to purpose and goodbye to burnout.

WELLNESS IN WIDE OPEN SPACES

From hiking and biking on Mt. Lemmon to stargazing through one of the world's largest telescopes and over 350+ days of sunshine, outdoor activities are endless and accessible year-round (hello, T-shirts in January).

Located at the southern part of Arizona, Tucson offers access to meaningful careers, a diverse community and big-city amenities with a small-town feel.

WHY TUCSON?

COST OF LIVING 6% LOWER THAN THE NATIONAL AVERAGE

NO. 6 BEST FOOD CITY IN THE U.S.
- TRAVEL & LEISURE

37,000 ACRES OF PARKLAND

“Tucson is a college town and offers a tremendous amount of amenities. From a work perspective, I am a trauma surgeon and I work in the largest and busiest trauma center in Southern Arizona. It’s very gratifying that we get to be of service to our fellow citizens in this region.”

Dr. Andy Tang, MD, FACS
General Surgeon and Trauma Medical Doctor,
Banner-University Medicine

“Tucson is a great place to move to because you have great colleagues, and everyone is respectful. There are a lot of services from the federal and state level, so I’m able to provide services to folks that I don’t think I would’ve been able to provide others in another state in the United States.”

Dr. Sudha Nagalingam, MD, Medical Director –
Special Immunology Associates, El Rio Health

“Tucson has a lot of opportunities for healthcare, including major systems that allow for almost anything you want to do in healthcare. The best thing about TMC is that we have no corporate oversight, so we’ve always been able to turn on a dime.”

Cam Dyman, MHI, BSN, RN, Application Training
Manager – Clinical Informatics, TMC Health
